

42 VILLISTAS KILLED BY U.S. IN NIGHT RAID

American Cavalry in Daring
36-Mile Ride Surprise
Bandit's Men.

CARRANZISTAS HELP

"Brilliant Work Will Go Down in History," Says
General Funston.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Riding like fiends through the wild Mexican country at night, American troops at Ojo Azules yesterday routed 143 Villista raiders in a two-hour fight. They killed forty-two, wounded many, captured some men, mules and ponies, and came out unscathed.

Their 36-mile ride through a strange land will go down in cavalry history as "a brilliant piece of work," in the words of General Funston. Above the more spectacular thought, looms the fact that the battle showed the Carranzista soldiers and the United States troops to be actually working together.

The Carranzistas, encamped at Blue Springs, some sixty miles southwest of Chihuahua City, had been attacked Thursday night. General Funston's report this afternoon showed. Five of their men had been taken. Major Howser, with six troops of the Eleventh Cavalry, set out at 8:30 o'clock in pursuit. At daylight they came upon the sleeping Villista camp. Revolvers were drawn and the Americans plunged into the enemy, totally surprising them. The Villistas fought and ran. After the struggle forty-two dead were counted.

The Villistas spread out into the mountains with some of Major Howser's men in pursuit. Five Carranzista soldiers condemned to face the firing squad were freed by the Americans.

PRAISES SPIRIT OF MISSOURI

Sigma Delta Chi Delegate Gives His Impressions of M. U.

Ralph H. Heyne, Sigma Delta Chi delegate from the Kansas State Agricultural College, wrote for the Banquet News Friday:

"Columbia and the University of Missouri will be two pleasant and delightful memories in the minds of those college men who came to the 'Show Me' state to attend the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi.

"Known from coast to coast as an institution of merit and exceptionally high standing, the University of Missouri not only fulfilled the highest expectations of the visiting delegates but left upon their minds an indelible impression of Missouri spirit and hospitality united to produce an institution of efficiency, exceptional standing and thoroughness."

Country Schools Get Attention.

Missourians are becoming more interested in their country schools. They are beginning to see their importance and to consider what can be done to improve them. This is the decision of R. H. Emberson, supervisor of the boys' and girls' clubs, and member of the faculty of the University of Missouri, after attending community meetings at Kingston and Gallatin recently. The meetings were examples of what wide-awake communities are doing in the interest of the schools, according to Mr. Emberson.

HERE'S A THANKLESS JOB

Stranger Assumes Charge of a Runaway Horse.

Wanted: just a verbal expression of thanks from the man who returned to Fifth street and Broadway to find the horse he had hitched there (no one seemed to know how long before) minus his harness, tied to a pole up the alley, and the buggy, just a little more dilapidated now than the historical one-horse show, curled around a tree near the Gordon Hotel.

And thereon rests an episode.

Out of the calm of lower Broadway yesterday afternoon, women and children suddenly ran for shelter, dogs scattered and the guest at Columbia's other hotel started from a sleep at a window ten feet from the splintering of a driverless buggy. Out of the debris around the tree, came a horse, with part of the harness hanging, his nostrils wide and his chest heaving. It was those last two—the nostrils and the chest—that appealed to the spectators, who hid behind trees and in doorways.

One, however—the one who now wants the thanks, came to the rescue. In about twenty minutes he had corralled the runaway, and tied him to the back of a heavy wagon, only to have him start down the street again, this time dragging a stranger's wagon. Again he quelled the culprit and tied him to the most substantial-looking of the telephone posts.

And so the action ended, and the audience went away—even to the chief actor, who now deserves a little thanks from the owner of the horse and the shay, whom no one in the vicinity seemed to know.

JOURNALISM WEEK HAS WIDER SCOPE

Visitors Agree That It Is Bigger and Better Than Predecessors.

NEARLY 600 HERE

24 States Represented in Attendance—10 Organizations Meet.

It was not only a better and a larger Journalism Week, but it was a week broader in its scope than those preceding. That was the sentiment of those who have attended the annual event of the School of Journalism, since Journalism Week was established seven years ago.

Ten organizations met during the week which came to a close Friday night with the Made-in-America banquet. Merchants and business men from all parts of the state were in attendance, seeming to show their realization of the prominent part played by the newspaper in the commercial world.

Including those not registering 600 persons were here at one time or another during the five-days' session. Or, to give a clearer illustration of the growth of the annual event, 29 per cent more persons attended than ever before.

It is estimated that 300 newspaper men and women were here. This does not include business men and other visitors, 115 of whom came in a delegation from North St. Louis.

And they came from all parts of the nation. Twenty-four states were represented. They came from California and Washington in the West, Maine in the East, Minnesota in the North and Louisiana in the South.

Another feature was the fact that practically all of the speakers listed on the program were here. There was occasion for little substitution.

Among the organizations which met here was the Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries, which held its first annual convention. These meetings formed another illustration of the interest that commercial men are beginning to manifest in the work of the journalist.

The following organizations held their meetings here: Missouri Writers' Guild, Missouri Women's Press Association, Association of Missouri Afternoon Editors, Missouri Advertising Clubs, Association of Past Presidents of the Missouri Press Association, Missouri Press Association, Missouri Collegiate Press Association, Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries, Missouri Retail Clothiers' Association and Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity.

They have gone now—people in every phase of journalistic endeavor; in fact, people from nearly every walk in life—and in the words of many of them, they'll "be back next year."

KILIAN PRAISES CADET CORPS

Former Colonel Says M. U. Regiment Is "Best Ever."

"The University Cadet Corps this year is the best I have ever seen it," was the comment of J. Alfonso Kilian, who was graduated from the College of Agriculture in 1914, and who was the cadet colonel for 1913-1914. Mr. Kilian had just finished reviewing the regiment last Wednesday.

"If the cadets don't get into the 'distinguished institution' class this year, they never will again," he continued. "The corps is even better than it was when I was colonel two years ago, when we first made the 'distinguished' class."

Mr. Kilian visited in Columbia during Journalism Week. He had been traveling in Arkansas, and stopped off on his way to his home in Blair, Neb., where he will take up farming. He is a second lieutenant in the Fourth Regiment, Nebraska Cavalry.

BERLIN, May 6.—American circles pointed out here today the importance of the peace feature contained in Germany's reply to the American note and expressed the belief that President Wilson now has a great opportunity to bring the war to an early end.

Some persons even suggested that the time was now ripe for Colonel House to revisit the European capitals.

War's Turning Point Expected.

LONDON, May 6.—Within the next thirty days the Allies will mark the turning point in the world war.

The belief is now held in every capital of Europe. The activity being displayed by the Germans in improving their defense positions on both the Eastern and Western front, as well as in the Balkans, indicates that the German general staff holds the same opinion.

Twenty Afternoon Papers Form Exchange News Association Here.

An exchange news association, which has been contemplated by the Missouri Associated Afternoon Newspapers for the last year, will soon be in operation. The association is composed of about twenty of the smaller daily newspapers of Missouri.

A plan was adopted at a meeting of the organization last Friday afternoon whereby each paper will keep the others informed of news of special and state importance that originates in the immediate territory of the individual members. Each paper will be provided with a printed chart and map showing the local news territories of the various papers, their press time and other information.

The papers represented at the meeting were the Mexico Ledger, the University Missourian, the Kirksville Express, the Moberly Index, the Marshfield Democrat-News, the Independence Examiner and the Maryville Tribune. Means of securing closer advertising co-operation with each other and with the merchants of the various towns were discussed.

DANIELS REGRETS HIS ABSENCE

Secretary of Navy Sends Congratulations in Telegram.

The following telegram was received at the Made-in-America Banquet Friday evening from Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy:

"Walter Williams, Dean of the School of Journalism, University of Missouri: It had been my earnest hope to be with you and take part in the seventh annual Journalism Week of the University of Missouri. I regret that the press of official duties denies me the pleasure. The School of Journalism of the University of Missouri has a national reputation for producing capable journalists. There never was a day when the need was greater for trained editors with a sense of their responsibility. The state that trains its editors best will develop the best public opinion. Missourians have to be shown. Editors of the right sort are better qualified than any others to blaze the way along better highways.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS."

TIGERS WIN TWELFTH

Missouri Boys Get a Scare
But Take Second From Ames, 4-3.

By Special Correspondence.

AMES, Ia., May 6.—Counting three runs in the third inning and holding Missouri scoreless until the sixth session, Ames gave the Tigers a scare in a sensational game which the visitors finally won, 4 to 3. It was Missouri's twelfth straight victory.

The Ames batsmen were all slugging today, making a total of twelve hits. Three pitchers—Taylor, Bryant and Giltner—were used by Coach Brewer, and they were all necessary to stop the Iowa hitters, for in the ninth inning Ames' runners occupied second and third with no one out. The Tigers pulled out of the hole.

The Missouri tallies came in pairs, two, in the sixth and another brace in the eighth. McMillan's bludgeon was responsible for two of the markers. Dippold touched the opposing pitcher for three hits and Bumgarner came through with the same number. Missouri used thirteen players, totaled nine hits and made two errors. Four errors were marked against Ames.

The Tiger won Friday's game with Ames, 7 to 1.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD IS SET BY SIMPSON

Tiger Takes High Hurdles
in 14 4-5 Seconds—Missouri 80, Visitors 47.

LONG RUNS TO AMES

Schulte's Men Win Both
Relay Races—Corwin
a Surprise.

Bob Simpson, Missouri's hurdling marvel, exceeded all expectations yesterday on Rollins Field in the Missouri-Ames meet when he clipped a fifth of a second from the world's record of 15 seconds in the 120-yard high hurdles. He finished the meet with twenty points to his credit. Incidentally Missouri won, 80 to 47.

With the wind against him and after capturing first place in the 100-yard dash, Simpson owned the right of way in the 120-yard hurdles and without much effort outpaced his nearest rival, Packer of Ames, and annexed another five points toward a Missouri victory.

Believes Record Will Hold.

H. F. Schulte said that he believes that the record will hold, because it comes up to all requirements. The measurement of the track is correct; Simpson cleared each hurdle; three watches caught him at 14 4-5 seconds, and one watch caught him at 14 3-5 seconds, according to Schulte. The slowest time is always taken. The official time will be decided by officials of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Besides winning the high hurdles and the dash, Simpson won the 220-yard high hurdles and the broad jump and helped Missouri win the half-mile relay, cutting the Varsity record from 1 minute 33 seconds, to 1 minute and 30 1/2 seconds.

Pace-Setter Wins Race.

Corwin surprised even Schulte when he won the 880-yard run. He was entered only as a pace setter. Missouri ran away from Ames in the mile relay. Niedorp broke even with his opponent; Eaton gained five yards; Wyatt added fifteen yards to the five-yard lead, and Daggly walked in.

The half-mile relay was the prettiest race with perhaps the exception of the high hurdles. Simpson in finishing went around the curve, 220 yards, in 22 flat. The Tigers captured this event.

Ames showed best in the distances, taking sixteen of the eighteen points in the mile and two-mile runs.

The Summary:

100-yard dash—Simpson, Missouri, won; Renick, Missouri, second; Fitch, Ames, third. Time, 16 2-5 seconds.
150-yard dash—Hawthorne, Ames, won; Crane, Ames, second; Brown, Missouri, third. Time, 1 minutes 45 3-5 seconds.
